Fall Planting Innovation

Since pioneering fall shelterbelt planting in 2000, we continue to see the benefits of fall planting, especially for all non coniferous tree varieties. This method helps trees access early spring moisture, often resulting in stronger growth.

Spring planting May 20 through June 15 when seedlings are in full leaf is the next best time for spring planting according to our field research. One can even plant in July and August if irrigation rates are doubled to 20 liters per week per seedling instead of ten liters. Early spring planting while seedlings are dormant is the most traditional method even if establishment rates are slightly lower. For fall planting we recommend fall planting from October 1 to early November for optimal results.

Sapling Sales & New Varieties

We've expanded our sapling nursery from 50,000 saplings. Our most ready saplings are 20,000 saplings of Golden, Silverleaf, Laurel Leaf Willow and Acute Willow (4 to 11 ft) as well as American Elm, Maple, Green Ash (all 3 to 4 ft presently and growing) White and Blue Spruce 24 to 36 inch. Due to high demand, we're rapidly expanding our sapling offerings so many new sapling varieties will be ready by fall 2027 and beyond.

Shelterbelt Installation Services

HELP International offers complete shelterbelt planting services, including tree planting, plastic mulch, grass seeding, and drip irrigation across Saskatchewan, Manitoba, and Alberta. Affordable Tree Pricing

HELP International continues to offer some of the most competitive prices in Canada. For example, our caragana and lilac are priced significantly lower than national competitors. We maintain a uniform pricing system for all our seedlings,

Pre-positioning Tree Stocks & Supplies

We stay ahead of demand by pre-positioning tree stocks and supplies a year in advance, ensuring our customers have access to tough, hardy trees. This proactive approach helps us avoid supply chain issues and keep costs stable. We also offer two-year-old seedlings at the price of one-year-olds for many varieties, providing larger, more resilient trees.

Thank You

We are grateful to landowners, municipalities, government departments, parks, and schools across the prairies for their continued support of HELP International's Shelterbelt Program. Your investment in trees and services helps make a positive impact on the environment.
